Her principal laboratory is admirably arranged and supplied with all necessary and improved apparatus for extracting the medicinal and curative properties of the plants, herbs, roots, barks, berries, etc., which she employs for the healing of suffering human'ly.

Mrs. Pinkham and her worthy husband have sustained a great loss and been deeply afflicted in the recent death af two noble sons. They were young men of uncommon character and great promise. Fired by the ambition to benefit others, and at the same time to build up the fortunes of the family, they unfortunately overtaxed and exhausted their physical energies by a too con-their physical energies by a too constant and intense application to business, which sad event has placed in the hands of a surviving brother the mercantile department of the business. This gentleman is evidently equal to the heavy responsibility now imposed upon him, and under his judicious management the business is prespering in a de-gree that has more than realized the most sanguine expectations.

The sales of Mrs. Pinkham's medicines for the current year are likely to reach the round sum of $400,000, and the indications warrant the conclusion that indications warrant the conclusion that the receipts of next year may exceed half a million of dollars. To avoid paying the heavy duties imposed by the Canadian government on proprietary medicines, Mr. 'inkham has just erected a laboratory for the manufacture and sale of the remedies in British America.

the sceptre of influence placed in the hands of honest industry; more especially do we rejoice when the enterprise as is the case in the present instanceaims at the accomplishment of beneficent ends. Mrs. Pinkham and her noble family have fairly earned the great success they have won.

Let our readers remember that Mrs. Pinkham does not relieve human suffer-ing after the manner so prevalent among the doctors of the allopathic school. To relieve pain she does not destroy sensation by the use of power-ful nareotics—which is the evil device of professional ignorance of the healing throw off the disease by imparting a new energy to all the organic functions of human life. May the time soon come when we shall witness the end of the allopathic method of killing people to terminate their sufferings.

MONEY IN POLITICS.

If Democrats in the State of New York think that they are joing o have a "walk over" this year, they might as well disabuse their minds at once. We last week reproduced on article from the Brooklyn Eagle, giving a circumstantial account of a meeting of monopolists in the Equitable Building, at which $1,000,-000, or $5,000,000 if necessary, was pledged to elect Mr. Folger and his associates en the Republican ticket; and in another column of our present issue will be found a Herald interview with Mr. Vanderbilt, in which he professes to be out of politics, and says that "this is Mr. Gould's canvass." While neither of these gentlemen are likely to be seen in the canvals, it is prefty certain that they will make themselves felt. One million of dollars is but a small portion of what of dollars is but a small portion of what sach of these gentlemen unjustly take from the public annually, and the "Baraeys" and the "Jakes" and the "Mikes," who are now running the Republican party in this State, are adepts in "putting it where it will do the most good." When we reflect that five dollars buys the service of a "worker" on election day, and it is an understood thing that this carries with it the vote of the worker, we can see what the expenditure of ar, we can see what the expenditure of $1,000,000 will accomplish. There is one thing, however, that the Republican managers can make up their minds to—if this election is purchased it will be the death knell of the Republican party for all time. The Republican president for all time. The Republican president of one of our leading exchanges summa-rized the situation as follows:

"The decent portion of the Republican party in this State have determined to rebuke monopoly rule in this election by voting the Anti monopoly ticket. If Folger is elected, it will be purchased, and it will be the dearest election the Republican party ever gained. It will make inevitable what a great many Republicans now feel is desirable—a third party that is free from monopoly and machine rule."—Justice.

Br. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" stimulates and helps nature in her efforts to throw off disease. It does not fight nature. It does not send the unhappy sufferer into deeper pits pf pain under the pretense of doing him good. It acts tenderly and sympathetically like a mother lulling her child into sleep and health. Do you have trouble with your digestion, your Kidneys, or Liver? Is your head thick and heavy? Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" will drive out the poison and make you well again. BOOK NOTICES.

THE CENTURY MAGAZINF FOR NOVEMBER. As the first number of a new volume, the November Century gives promise or even increased excellence for the magazine during its second year under the new name. Pictorially, the November number shows that the Century is as ambitious as ever for the reputation of ambitious as ever for the reputation of American wood engraving. Though the art side of the November Century is so conspicuon the contents offer striking proof of a tendency to make the literary side of the magazine paramount and of the greatest possible excellence and importance, in travel, biography, fiction, poetry, criticism, and in the discussion of the foremost public questions. In earnest of this tendency, the November Century presents a paper on ber Century presents a paper on "Venice" which treats the subject in a charming, unconventional manner, with all the vivid impression and delicate coloring that might be expected from more delicute and spiritual organization than we had expected to find in the person of a woman who has accomplished so much on the material plane of life. The pictures of herself—which may be seen in the papers all over the continent—bear a strong resemblance to the original, in the general outline of the head and the benign expression of the countenance. Her conversation reveals her natural refinement and general intelligence, while her voice is modulated by the supremacy of those gentle attributes which appropriately belong to the higher types of womanhood.

The rapid extension of the business of supplying the large and constantly increasing demand of Mrs. Pinkham's Remedies—more especially those which are specifically adopted to the renovation of the impaired constitutions of women—is something quite extraordinary and tannot fail to excite astonishment wherever the facts are known. Her principal laboratory is admirably arranged and supplied with all necessary and improved apparatus for extracting the medicinal and curative properties of the plants, herbs, roots, barks, berries, at which she amploys for the healing and contained the plants, herbs, roots, barks, berries, at which she amploys for the healing and contained the plants, herbs, roots, barks, berries, at which she amploys for the healing and contained the plants, herbs, roots, barks, berries, at which she amploys for the healing and contained the plants, herbs, roots, barks, berries, at which she amploys for the healing and contained the plants, herbs, roots, barks, berries, at which she amploys for the healing and contained the plants, herbs, roots, barks, berries, at which she amploys for the healing and contained the plants are a bedward Eggleston's description and the licate coloring than might a subject in the hands of a brilliant nughts as where the continuation of the subject in the hands of a brilliant might be expected from the coloring than the object in the hands of a brilliant nughts at might be expected from the coloring than thoughts t

Other prominent features of the number are Edward Eggleston's description of "The Beginning of a Nation," the first of his series of Life in the American Colonies, the illustrations of which in-Colonies, the illustrations of which include many curious old drawings of Indian life, for which the magazine is indebted to the courtesy of the British Museum; the Rev. Dr. Washington Gladden's opening chapters in his story -with a purpose looking to Christian Co-operation—entitled "The Christian League of Connecticut;" a finely illustrated paper on "A New Profession for Women." in which Franklin H. North describes the Bellevue Training School for Nurses; and Mrs. Lucy M. Mitchell's illustrated paper on "The Sculptures of the Great Pergamon Altai," which are among the new and import in discoveries.

The fiction of the number comprises the first chapters of Mary Hallock Foote's nevel "The Ked Horse Claim," which carries the reader into new and subterranean fields of story telling; a humorous short story by Frank R. Stockton, entitled "The Lady and the Tiger," which is in his most quaint and whi asical vein; and the continuation of Mrs. Burnatt's "Throngh one Administra-

McKay, George Edgar Montgomery, Edward N. Pomeroy, and Richard Watson Gilder, not to forget some hitherto published verses by Roler Browning and Henry W. Longfellow, which are reproduced in autograph from a child's album, in Brica Brac, which contains also a clever satire on Mr. Wait Whitman and Mr. Oscar Wilde, by Helen Gray Cone. The more serious editorial departments treat on a grat variety of topics. In the publisher's department is an account of the "Century's New Home" with drawings of the comfortable and spacious rooms in which the magazines are housed.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR NOVEMBER Begins the new volume in splendid style with a colored frontispiece, by R. B. Birch, entitled "Indian Summer." staliment of J. T. Trowbridge's new serial "The Tinkham Brothers' Tide-Mill," which is a live American story about live American boys and girls.

The November number is also the Thanksgiving number, and so Miss Sophie Swett has contributed a jolly story called "All the Plums," which any one with half an eye can see must have some with half an eye can see must have some mysterious connection with the Thanksgiving pudding. "Oid Mordecai's Cockerel" is another amusing Thanksgiving tale, and there is a daintily illustrated "Grace for a Child" from Herrick.

Miss Eva L. Ogden has written, and Mr. Aifred Brenan has illustrated, a quaint and beautiful poem, entitled "The Quest," founded on Little Bo-peep's sheep's search for their long-lost tails.

The pranks and doings of "Tad" Lincoln, the late President's youngest son, are entertainingly treated by Noah Brooks.

Brooks. "The False Sir Santa Claus," a beautiful and novel form of Christmas enter-tainment, by the author of "The Land of Nod," is printed in this number, with music and complete stage directions.

Joy, Joy to the World. If you meet a man who looks as if he had lost all his friends, had his house burned down and business destroyed, just make up your mind that he either has dyspepsia or his liver is out of order. The best thing you can do for such a woebegone individual is to advise him to go to Horace Somers' drug store and get a bottle of Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic, which will cure him without fail. Also an infallible remedy for pimples and blotches on the face. Only 50 central bottle. cents a bottle.

The men who returned from the search for the bodies of the Asia victims at Owen Sound, report that the pockets of the dead were robbed of all their valuables, and in some instances even the shoes were taken off.
